Inability of Volunteer Crews to Move Repaired Cars
Given as Cause.

YOUNGSTOWN IN PLIGHT

Not Sugar Enough For Babies and Not to be Had; Council Telegraphs Labor Board to Speed Up; Grable
Tells Reason For the Unrest.

By Associated Press.
PITTSBURGH, May 4.—Inability of volunteer crews to replace striking workmen to move repaired cars from the shops of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad at McKees Rocks, Pa., caused the closing of the plant today.
It was announced at the company's general offices here. It was said that efforts to move out the repaired cars
and replace them with damaged equipment would be made during the day but whether the strikers would work on cars not handled by union men was a question not yet decided.

General strike conditions throughout the district showed little change.
Striking yardmen and trainmen still maintain an attitude of peaceful quiet,
few returning to work.

Interest in the situation centered
at Beaver, Pa., where later in the day President W. G. Lee and other officers of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen were expected to appear in court to combat the action of the Freedom, Pa., union, of the brotherhood whose charter was ordered annulled because its members had tricked.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 4.—The food situation here is becoming acute as the strike continues. Sugar is practically unobtainable even for babies. Wholesalers have been without sugar for several days and restaurants are using syrup as a substitute.

This serious food condition, coupled with the fact that 35,000 men are idle,
has caused the city council to telegraph the Railroad Labor Board at Washington asking for quick action on the men's demands. The city clerk has been instructed to ask other cities
to take similar action.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Too many people eating cake and too many who do not almost impossible to get any more bread is the underlying cause of unrest in the country, E. F. Grable, resident of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance Employees and Railroad Shop Laborers, declared today
before the Railroad Labor Board.
Grable, fighting for a minimum wage of seven cents an hour over the present maximum rate of 51 cents
an hour, declared that the majority of the men in his organization were working for less than "starvation wages." "People who can't get bread
don't like to be told to eat cake."

IONOLITHIC TYPE NOT FAVORED FOR CRAWFORD AVENUE

rick Will Be Set on Solidified Concrete Base With Sand Cushion Between, in Repairing Street.

Specifications for the repairing of Crawford avenue were discussed by city council Monday night at the suggestion of City Engineer S. M. Foust.
He said he wished to begin work on the preparation so that there may be no delay in the improvement plan.
The ordinances have been disposed of on May 24.

A solid concrete base, set on a foundation of slag will be used to increase against return of the "wash-board" condition of the street as it is day. Slag, according to tentative plans, will be placed to a depth of 24 inches and on this will be a concrete base for the brick seven inches thick.
The brick will be set in the green mortar, was not in favor. Instead a base will be permitted to solidify between it and the surface material.

Army Head.

of the work of the Salvation Army at other, John O'Brien, head of the

OVER 1,300 MORE BIRTHS THAN DEATHS IN CITY IN 10 YEARS, RECORD SHOWS

While figures compiled by the census enumerators only show Connellsville's increase in 10 years to have been a few over 900, the records of Vital Statistician Alex D. Hood are the subject of a little study. His books for the past 10 years show an annual average of 134 births in excess of deaths,
one year there being as many as 181
excess births.

The increase of 811 in the city schools is not all accounted for in the reports as a child must be six years before entering school. This would mean that only those born before 1911

GENERAL WOOD TAKES MARYLAND FROM JOHNSON

Unusually Light Vote, However,
Marks the Primary Election.

ILLINOIS IS BALLOTING

By Associated Press.
BALTIMORE, May 4.—Major General Wood defeated Senator Johnson of California in an unusually light vote yesterday in the primaries for Maryland's preferential for President by a majority of 7,841, according to practically complete returns today. The vote was Wood, 15,990; Johnson, 8,059.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 4.—Fair weather and a deep-rooted interest in the campaign is expected to produce a heavy vote today in the Indiana preferential primary. Special interest of the state and nation centers in the Republican presidential contest, in which four of the leading aspirants are asking the support of Indiana
voters, Major General Leonard Wood, Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois,
Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California and Senator Warren G. Harding.

Harding has all the active support of state-wide organizations and each has conducted a speaking tour of the state during the last two weeks. All except the Illinois executive made their speeches to the voters in addresses and rallies.

There are no candidates for the Democratic nomination for president on the ballot and the Indiana law forbids the writing in of names.
Unless one candidate receives a majority of all the votes in the state,
the presidential nomination delegates to the state convention will go unrestricted.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 4.—Whether California's delegation of 25 to the Republican national convention will be pledged to the candidacy of Hiram W. Johnson of Herbert Hoover was the chief issue and the principal point of interest in today's presidential primary. The Democrats and Prohibitionists will also elect an equal number of delegates. Weather conditions are favorable for a heavy vote.

DALLAS, Tex., May 4.—Texas Democrats in county conventions today were selecting delegates to the state Democratic conventions which on May 25 will name the Texas representatives to the national convention
at San Francisco.

Wednesday, May 12, at the local institution. The meeting will be one of the semi-annual gatherings and is the first to be called since the ending of the war.

It is expected that about 20 Y.
secretaries will be here for the occasion. The convention lasts only one day. The men will be guests at a banquet at the "Y" and a discussion of problems of the institutions will be

Near Duster.

port gas field put the drill to a depth of 3,905 feet and secured but a slight flow of gas. The sand was 35 feet thick.

a number of Connellsville persons are interested, it is said, will be a finished

Scouts, will be held tonight at the

HEALTH-FOOD PLAYLET

First of Series, Given at High School
by South Siders.

The first of the "health and good food" playlets was given Monday afternoon in the high school auditorium by the South Side school children who have been rehearsing for the past week. A clever program was carried out, interesting to both the parents and school children who attended. The purpose of the campaign, put on by State college, is to emphasize what is good for the health and what is bad. Different programs are offered by students of different grades.

This afternoon the Crawford school
students will carry out a program,
the stage in the gym to be used for the purpose. The third ward will have a program at the high school on Wednesday, and Thursday the Cameron school students will give their playlets. Friday will be second ward day.

TOO MUCH FOR ONE ROOM

Woman Says, Husband Asked Her to Sleep, Cook, Eat, Keep Boarder.

One divorce was granted and two others were filed in Uniontown today.
On the recommendation of the master,
a decree was granted in the case of Myrtle Hough against William Hough of Connellsville. Credit treatment was charged. During their residence in Brownsville, the wife testified, she was forced to cook, eat and sleep in one room and to top it all her husband insisted she take a boarder.
Children were filed as follows:
Lewis S. Haysman, Connellsville, against Myrtle Hough, married June 29, 1912; deserted December 24, 1918.
John Vaccara, Belle Vernon, against Angela Vaccara, desertion.

JUAREZ IS CAPTURED

Occupation by Rebels of City Is Without Bloodshed.

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 4.—While no orders have been issued for additional warships to go to the east coast of Mexico, Secretary Daniels said today ships would be sent "if they are needed."

EL PASO, Tex., May 4.—Juarez is in the hands of the Sonora revolutionists.
The revolution was peaceable and its announcement by General J. Gonzalez Escobar, was accompanied by a popular celebration. The Oregon junta from El Paso crossed to Juarez last night.

UNIONTOWN MAN KILLED

Train at Markleton.

Harry Spitznagel, 33 years old, son of S. P. Spitznagel of Uniontown, died in the Markleton hospital at 6 o'clock this morning from injuries received last night when he stepped in front of an east-bound freight train on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad.

SOFT DRINK MAKERS MAY HAVE TO CLOSE BECAUSE OF THE RAILROAD STRIKE

Soft drink manufacturers are being hard hit by the results of the railroad strike and inability of factories to get their goods over the roads. The manager of a local concern said if conditions did not improve very rapidly he would not be surprised to see any number of such establishments closing down, temporarily at least.

The informant said in his factory he had half a barrel of syrup left with which to make his product. While a half barrel of raw syrup will make a considerable number of bottles of first allay, it will not last very long and no relief for him is in sight.

He is considering sending a truck to Ohio for a few barrels he can secure there.

While local concerns are not han-capped by any bottle shortage soft drink manufacturers in other parts of the country are concerned which have the necessary syrup do not have bottles and those who can procure bottles have no syrup. The railroad shut-up in each case is the cause of the situation and overland transportation, which is sometimes rather costly, is the only means of relief.

BISHOP POST TO AID IN MEMORIAL DAY EXERCISES

Tender of Services Will Be Made to William J. Kuriz Post of the Grand Army of the Republic.

William J. Kuriz Post, The American Legion, will cooperate with the G. A. R. veterans in plans for Memorial Day exercises here. The post will also mark the graves of dead soldiers who have been accorded military honors by the Legion regardless of whether they have been members or not.

This action was taken last night by the executive committee of the local post, meeting in the office of Attorney P. D. Munson. The committee is composed of Post Commander Edgar J. Horner, Adjutant Max C. Photo, Vice Commander Thomas W. Scott, Post
Finance Officer Lloyd McClelland,
Fred D. Munson, Irving M. Snow, J.
Montgomery Dilworth, Harry G. Masson and Lawrence J. Moorman.

Arrangements have been made to purchase the official Legion grave markers, which is a duplicate of the emblem worn by Legion members, only a much enlarged size. It is held upright by a screw pin and has a small holder for a flag.

It was also determined to communicate with William J. Kuriz Post, G.
A. R., concerning a program for Memorial Day. A meeting of the full post membership will be held Thursday night at the Baltimore & Ohio Y.
M. C. A. at which several important matters will be taken up.

PRESIDENT SIGNS SOLDIER PENSION INCREASE BILL

Measure Raises Minimum For Civil War Veterans to $50 Monthly.

MORE FOR THE DISABLED

Widows and Children of Former Soldiers Also Are Included in Provisions; Disability Blanks May Be Secured from Congressman Kendall.

Special to The Courier.
WASHINGTON, May 4.—The President has signed the Fuller pension
bill, I have been informed upon making inquiry at the White House," said Representative S. A. Kendall in an interview here. "This will carry joy to the hearts of thousands of the boys in blue" who have been up against it because of the present high cost of living. While the increases in the pensions of the soldiers of the Civil War are not as large as we would like to make them, nor as much as the veterans of the Civil War deserve, yet the increase is as large as the treasury
can afford at this time."

Under the provisions of the Fuller act, every person who served in the Civil War for 90 days or more, and who has been honorably discharged or who, regardless of service, was discharged for a disability incurred in the service, or is now on the pension roll as a Civil War veteran, or who is entitled to receive, under existing law,
a pension less than $50 per month,
shall receive a pension at the rate of $50 per month from and after the passage of this act.

Every person who served as mentioned, and who by reason of age is or may hereafter become by reason of age and physical or mental disabilities helpless or blind, or so nearly helpless or blind as to require the regular personal aid and attendance of another person, shall be entitled to and shall receive a pension at the rate of $72 per month. Every person who shall have lost one hand or one foot, or been totally disabled in some shall receive a pension at the rate of $69 per month; an arm at or above the elbow or a leg at or above the knee, $65; an arm at the shoulder joint or a leg above the hip joint, or so near the shoulder or hip joint or where the same is in such condition as to prevent the use of an artificial limb, $72;
one hand and one foot, or being totally disabled in the same, $60 per month.

All widows of Civil War veterans are granted an increase of $7 per month, provided they were married to the veteran prior to June 27, 1915.
This increase also applies to all former widows who remarried, provided their husbands are dead or in the event they were divorced, it can be proved that the divorce was through no fault of the wife.

Children of the veterans, who, at the death of such veteran, were under 16 years of age, are entitled to a pension at the rate of $6 per month,
which pension continues until the 16th
birthday is reached.

"I am informed by the commissioner of pensions," said Mr. Kendall,
"that the regular increase to $50 per month will be made automatically and it will not be necessary to make application therefor. Under the special provision, however, a pension for the increase because of disability to $60, $65, $72 and $74 an application
must be filed with the commissioner of pensions, which application must be substantiated with proper affidavits. I have and a number of these blankets sent to me and I shall be glad to mail same to anyone addressing me at the House of Representatives,
Washington, D. C."

THE QUESTION CONFRONTING TAXPAYERS.

The action of the school board in levying a poll tax of $5 upon each male resident 21 years and over, for the purpose of providing funds to meet the increase in teachers' salaries, will bring home to taxpayers the inquiry: How are school districts and municipalities going to be able to keep their constantly increasing expenditures within the limits of their taxable resources? Expressed differently, and perhaps more suggestively, the inquiry might be reversed by asking: How can tax income be made to keep pace with maintenance outgo?

A year ago the Conneltsville school board had exhausted its power to raise money under the millage limit as prescribed by law. The funds made available by this means are not now adequate to meet the expenditures for the coming year, which will be approximately $13,000 greater than last year due to the increase in salaries. Anticipating that such emergencies would arise, or had already arisen in some sections of the state, the legislature last year enacted a law authorizing the levying of a poll tax. Taking advantage of this act to augment the income of the district during the coming year, the school board has fixed the tax at $5 per head.

While the justice of awarding a substantial increase in the compensation paid the teachers is recognized by every person, the new tax will not generally be regarded with favor. Not because of the purpose it is to serve, but more because of the multiplicity of taxes the average citizen has to meet under the stress of after-war conditions. To the regular school, city, county and state taxes, each larger than ever before, the war has added income, excess profits, documentary, luxury, amusement, transportation and numerous other taxes, to say nothing of the heavily pressing burden of steadily increasing living costs. To have still another tax added to at apparently unending list of imposts will, to many men, appear to be exceeding the limit in number even if it does not mark the limit in amount to be thus exacted.

The tax will be paid with fairly good grace, however, even gladly by some, because of the universal interest the people have in the continued progress of our schools, but by some it will be objected to just as taxes are objected to as a matter of habit. The fact that the tax will also be imposed upon unnaturalized foreigners resident in the city is an element of justice that will appeal to taxpayers who already feel themselves overburdened. It has never seemed just or fair that aliens who are afforded the same degree of protection in person and property as native born and naturalized citizens, and whose children are given school advantages equal to the children of citizens, should be permitted to escape the payment of taxes altogether. That the new tax will in part right this flagrant injustice will be one of the compensations. The other compensations will be that the tax is to be applied to a useful and necessary purpose.

That the school board has been obliged to resort to this extreme measure of raising income will subject its expenditures to a closer scrutiny by all interested, and thoughtful citizens, they having the very proper right to demand that every measure of economy consistent with a wise administration of school affairs be employed. If otherwise, this problem of making resources equal to the demands and growth of the school district will become increasingly difficult of a satisfactory solution.

IMPENDING FATE OF PROFITEERS

The profiteers in the Pittsburgh district will doubtless quake with overpowering fear at their impending fate when they learn that the "Flying Squadron" of the Department of Justice, in enroute with orders to make Pittsburgh its next step. This organization, described as being "made up of lawyers and statisticians trained in their work and familiar with the provisions of the Lever Act," has been instructed by Attorney General Palmer to "lower the prices of food, clothing and other necessities, at all hazards it may be resumed from the methods prescribed for its operation. The squadron "will drop in on the towns and cities unannounced, make a quick survey of the situation, go into the department stores and other retail and wholesale establishments, check up prices and profits, and gather evidence of excessive profits for presentation to a federal grand jury." It is announced that in New York, Philadelphia and other cities and towns where the squadron has been making raids, fearful casualties have resulted from its assaults upon the strongholds of the profiteers. "Where merchants have refused to reduce prices voluntarily," it is stated, "prosecutions invariably have resulted." Information is singularly lacking, however, of the number who have been jailed as a result of the prosecution.

The poor, burdened consumer may at last take heart and live in hope that the "downward trend" in prices will be forced to trend, if the strength and versatility of the press agents of the Department of Justice are not in the meantime overtaken in devising new propaganda in support of the campaign of ruthlessness against the wicked profiteers.

Will the imposition of the $5 "head" tax have a tendency to swell the heads of some persons who never before were regarded as of taxable importance?

Yesterday's chapter in the United States Supreme Court serial was about as "dry" reading as those preceding.

Just when the people were consulting themselves with the comforting thought that the desire season is over for this year, along comes the school board with its poll tax to take the joy out of living.

The revolutionists in Mexico are speeding up Carranza's decision to put his "Speedy Shipping" policy into effect.

Again has A. Mitchell Palmer fallen outside the law. The Anti-Saloon League resolutely refuses to place him among the candidates whom "the prohibitionists can safely support, if nominated."

Coy and half-huff as Conneltsville is she will not object to being encircled by a ring of gas and oil wells.

Sugar and Bread

Harvey's Weekly.

The conjuncture of two news items appearing simultaneously the other day afforded food for thought.

One stated, on competent authority, that imports of Cuban sugar into the United States this year, down to April 10, had been 416,514,540 pounds, or more than 20 per cent greater than in the same time last year. Also, that the 1920 sugar crop of British India was 7,112,440,000 pounds, or more than 31 per cent larger than that of 1919.

The other item was the announcement of great scarcity of sugar in our markets, coupled with the prediction, made by some of the best informed and most authoritative dealers in New York, that within two months the retail price here would be as high as from 30 to 35 cents a pound; an increase of from 50 to 75 per cent above the present extortionate prices; and a consequent appeal to the government for price-fixing intervention.

It would be interesting to have the precise relationship of the coincidence to the law of demand and supply fully explained; together with the bearing of that law, in this particular case, upon prices.

Another couplet of items also appearing at the same time as the above, had an equally interesting bearing, though from a different angle, upon the same general subject.

One stated that, according to investigations by the State Board of Agriculture, the wheat growers of Kansas lost an average of 43 cents an acre on last year's operations, despite the fact that their grain brought from 25 to 50 cents a bushel more than the high price guaranteed by the government.

The other stated that the Department of Agriculture at Washington had received so many reports of a largely decreased acreage in this spring's wheat planting that it was moved to issue an appeal to farmers to revise their plans and increase rather than reduce their acreage.

These items suggest that it would be instructive to have it explained precisely what it profits either the wheat-grower or the bread-eater to have the government fix prices.

MOTHER'S DAY.

Let every day be Mother's Day!
Make roses grow along her way
And beauty everywhere,
Oh, never let her eyes be wet
With tears of sorrow or regret,
And never cease to care!
Come, grown up children, and rejoice
That you can hear your mother's voice!

A day for her! For you she gave Long years of love and service brave,
For you her youth was spent,
There was no thought of hurt or care
First in her thought and memory,
Though you were black as sin!
Though skies were gray or skies were blue
Not once has she forgotten you!

Let every day be Mother's Day!
Will love and roses strew her way,
And smiles of joy and pride!
Come, grown up children, to the knee
Where long ago you used to be
And never turn aside;
Or never let her eyes grow wet
With tears, because her babies forget!

HIGHER WAGES NEXT YEAR FOR TEACHERS OF WESTMORELAND CO.

Resolution Adopted by Convention of Directors at Greensburg Assures Increase.

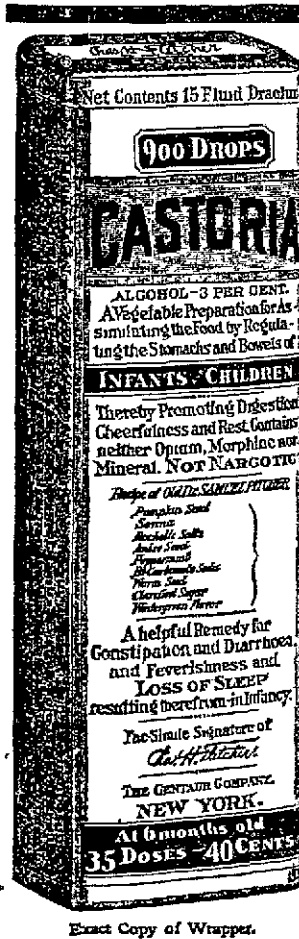

Special to The Courier
GREENSBURG, May 4.—Westmoreland county school teachers will get increased salaries for teaching next term. This much was settled by the convention of Westmoreland county school directors in extraordinary session here last week.

Nearly every township and borough school board in the county was represented and the teaching situation was discussed from many angles. A motion to increase the pay for the county school teachers 25 per cent was discussed, but the question of actual increase was left to each individual board, which knows local conditions best.

Minimum salaries generally are $80 a month and teachers of experience, those having normal school diplomas, college graduates and those holding permanent or professional certificates receive better salaries in most instances averaging between $80 and $90.

ROBERT J RYAN QUILTS CLAIM AGENT JOB TO MANAGE OAKFORD PARK FOR THE SUMMER SEASON

Robert J. Ryan of Evinston, assistant claim agent for the West Penn Railways company has resigned his position to become manager of Oakford park, near Greensburg, for the summer season. Mr. Ryan is vice president of the Olympia-Oakford Park association which has leased the two West Penn parks—Oakford and Olympia—and will operate them on a more elaborate scale than ever before attempted. The other officers of the new company are H. E. Hampe, president, C. V. Culbert, treasurer and Clarence Black, secretary. Mr. Hampe has long been connected with Olympia park, operating the restaurant and various other concessions. Extensive repairs and improvements are being made at each resort. Installation of two new amusement devices—The Whip and The Observation Balloon—is under way at both places, and a program of dances and picnics covering practically every day of the season is being made up. The big boom at McKeesport extended to Olympia park and the surrounding territory and many people in that section were anxious to win effect this right, have on the park as an amusement place. However, the park itself is not despoiled, its beauty is unimpaired, though hundreds of derricks have been reared at its very edge. Olympia always has been a favorite recreation spot for folks in the McKeesport district, and under new management it should gain in popularity. Mr. Hampe, the former manager, will be in charge. Oakford is considered one of the best trolley parks in this section of the state. Hundreds of picnics are held there each summer attracting many thousands of people. The West Penn annually takes its organization there for an outing and many other big industrial concerns hold picnics on the ground. Shady Grove between Uniontown and Conneltsville will also be available for picnics but it will not be operated on the same scale as Olympia and Oakford.

IF AT FRANKLIN, THEN WHY NOT IN CONNELLSVILLE?

The Franklin team of the independent league is one of the most discussed teams of the season. The team is composed of all big league players. Everyone was either a member of the National or American leagues and they are not cast-offs by any means. Franklin has a population of between 2,000 to 12,000 people. The question being asked is how such a small town as Franklin can support such a team. The salaries of the players run into the thousands. Now Franklin is not different from Conneltsville, nor as large in population. The club asked the support of the merchants and business men, which they readily agreed to give. Each year the management has strengthened the team with the result that it can play any major league team and, no doubt, defeat many of them.

When Franklin was ready to begin operations this year, a canvass was made of the merchants, business men and different organizations with the result that $50,000 was turned into the club treasury. The club was told to go the limit, with the result that it has assembled the strongest team ever heard of in independent baseball. And not only was this huge sum of money cheerfully subscribed, but the club was invited to call again if the fund was insufficient.

Here we have Conneltsville, every bit as big as Franklin, and a team of the best semi-pro players ever assembled has been signed up. Every effort has been and is being made to raise a sum of money, enough to equip Fayette Field with a grandstand and bleachers for Conneltsville's own citizens so that they may view the games in some degree of comfort. It is a trifling sum compared with Franklin's $50,000, yet the committee is having a strenuous time in raising the few hundred dollars necessary to get the much needed seats. It will take very nearly a week's work to erect a grandstand and bleacher seats, providing the money is subscribed. The opening game takes place on May 15. The club must have the money available before it can begin operations on the field, as no contractors will extend credit for the work.

This sum of money must be raised within the next few days. The club would like to know if there is anyone who would like to assist in this enterprise who has not been interviewed by the baseball fund committee. Several people who have been asked to contribute to the fund have answered: "Go ahead with the seats and then call on me." This is not the proper spirit. The money must be in the treasury so that the club will know how big a stand it can afford to build. You, the citizens, are asked to be more liberal in this movement. The stands are for the public, to be used by them for all time, not only for baseball but whatever may be held at Fayette Field for years to come.

BASEBALL CHIEFS.

The display of some of the equipment and one of the uniforms that are on view in the show window of the Crowley-Westgate store on West Crawford avenue, is attracting favorable attention.

William Harry, the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Harry of Shandaken, N. Y., formerly of Conneltsville, is making quite a name for himself as a ball tosser at Worcester academy, Worcester, Mass. "Billy," as he is popularly known, is the pitcher for the second class men and is a game with the seniors the other day the local gladiator came through with flying colors. He was the star of the game. Through his pitching his team defeated the seniors.

A baseball team has been organized among the transportation employees of the West Penn Railways company of the Conneltsville division. The manager of the team is Billy Gore. He has selected the following men to play with the team: Jack Frazier, pitcher; Stanley Morris, first base; Henry Pahl, short stop; Larry Goo, second base; Russ Brooks, right field; Homer Grimm, catcher; Dave Pyle, left field; Ed Strong and Jim Watson, utility players. Gore will cover third base. Any team that wants to cross bats with the West Penn team is asked to communicate with the manager.

At Poplar Grove, yesterday afternoon, the teams of Poplar Grove and Swagertown played a 12-inning tie, 6-6, the game being called on account of darkness. Swagertown battery, Washington and Madis; Poplar Grove, Gilles and Brooks.

BOXING.

Georges Carpentier, the French champion, put up a three-round exhibition at Duquesne Garden, Pittsburgh, last night and showed that he is not over rated. He impressed the fans with his speed and versatility of attacks. He is a wonderful boxer and seems to have every blow he uses at his command. He's good, and a worthy opponent for Jack Dempsey.

WALTER JOHNSON IS CREDIT TO BASEBALL

Content With His Present Berth With Washington.

Stove League Fans Make Many Trades and Among Others Shift Sensational Pitcher to Comiskey's White Sox.

When the stove league fans got into full swing last winter, all kinds of trades and sales were made of all the leading players in both major leagues, and, as usual, Walter Johnson, sensational pitcher of the Washington Americans, was tagged for shipment to several of the teams in the National circuit.

One report had it that Sir Walter in 1920 was to do the hurling act for the Chicago White Sox. The significant thing about this proposed deal, however, was that neither manager Clark Griffith or Johnson himself had been consulted in the matter.

Walter Johnson's contentment as a member of the trailing Capital City club seems to bother those daring fans who delight to shift the players of the majors about to suit their own ideas. Johnson is perfectly satisfied with his berth at Washington and as far as is known, Clark Griffith is quite content to shoulder Johnson's big contract for at least another season.

Although the fans may not generally know it, Johnson had a chance to go to Cleveland a year ago, and he turned the offer down because he did not want to leave Griffith. At that time, Manager Dunn of the Cleveland team was in the quest of pitching material to bolster an otherwise class club. He made Griffith an offer for Johnson—said to be $100,000—any Griffith took the matter up with his pitching ace. Griffith did not want to lose Johnson, but he felt that Walter had been such a faithful worker he did not care to stand in his way of getting a substantial boost in pay. The pitcher really cared to make the change.

When Johnson was asked about it he promptly replied that he was perfectly satisfied with his job and did not really care to make a move. It is said Johnson dislikes to change about. He has come to know Griffith and Washington fans, and as he puts it he is content to continue pitching for that team, regardless of the fancy amounts he could possibly obtain from other club owners.

THE SOLE ON.

"HEART OF THE HILLS—A story in which Mary Pickford finds rich opportunity is being shown today. Miss Pickford appears in a new role that of a mountain girl fighting her four battles and afraid of nobody nothing. The picture was witnessed by large crowds yesterday and brought forth spontaneous outbursts of laughter throughout the presentation not only at Mary's bright characterization but at the dashes of humor in sub-titles and at remarkably clear characterizations in the supporting cast. Deserving of big praise are the strong interpretations of Harold Goodwin, as Jason Honeysuckle, Sam De Grass as Steve and Fred W. Huntley as Grandpa Hawn. The scene which brings an uproar of laughter is that of the primitive court room.

The story hinges about the efforts of Mary to avenge the death of her father. In arriving at the solution of the murder it is necessary for her to overcome many obstacles chiefly those of city grafters unwholesome parental influences and an unscrupulous mountaineer who marries her mother.

Despite the scores of dramatic incidents in the picture there is ample opportunity for Miss Pickford to weave in humorous comedy situations in a most interesting and timely manner.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"WOLVES OF THE STREET—With Edmund F. Cobb in the leading role, is being presented today. The story is that of a young man who defeats the cowardly deed of his father's rival and wins a great victory in the end. It tells the story of conflict between men of wealth. A selected comedy is also being shown.

Tomorrow and Thursday Denny Weller, the charming screen star, will be presented in "Little Shadows," a timely and soul gripping drama which will sway every man and every woman with its powerful human appeal. Miss Weller is seen in the role of a girl who lives under the sting of a clouded past whose parental teachings forbid her to explain. A clear thinking American a man of affairs pierces the armor of her silence and learns the secret of her unhappiness.

LEFT-HANDED PLAYERS

In baseball in all positions left-handers have held their own with the best of them.

Ruth and Cobb the two greatest batsmen in the American league but left-handed.

Left-handed pitchers like Kerr of the White Sox and Sallee of the Cincinnati Reds earned off leading honors in the baseball blue ribbon of last year.

In the older days Wendell Plank, Marquard and other left-handed pitchers led all others in baseball and held their own near the top for years.

Tyler of the Cubs and Wil Hams and Kerr of the White Sox are only a few of the left-handers who are expected to do great things in the major leagues this year.

While Cobb and Ruth both left-handers were leading batsmen in the American league last year in 1918 Wheat of Brooklyn Roush and Southworth of Cincinnati all left-handers were the three top men in the National league. That proves how effective left-handed batsmen are and shows the advantage they have over right-handed players when it comes to reaching first base on a hit.

Questions

1. What is the purpose of quarantine?
2. Why is early quarantine important?
3. How is disease carried from one who has it, to a third party, by one who hasn't it?

THE HEALTH OFFICER

Because the doctor reported that "Jenny Maguire had Scarlet Fever," the Health Officer came to placard and quarantine the house.

Mrs. Maguire was hostile. "When me man, Mike, comes home from the St. Patrick's parade and sees that yellow sign on the house, he'll be after kickin' the man that put it there." The Health Officer told her that the color was not meant as a taunt to Irishmen, but was used because it could be seen at a distance, and indicated the presence of contagious disease and the establishment of quarantine.

"And phwat is quarantine?" asked Mrs. Maguire.

"Quarantine," answered the Health Officer, "means that no one but the doctor and nurse may leave the premises until there is no further danger of carrying the disease. The law fixes 30 days as the minimum period for scarlet fever."

"A foine law," sneered Mrs. Maguire, "that kapes a strong man home from wurrick for a month, an' the shid-dun on the fifteenth."

The Health Officer continued: "For scarlet fever, only modified quarantine is required. If Jenny be kept in a room by herself, with the doorway covered with a sheet, if you hang a wrapper and a sunbonnet, or other covering for your hair, just inside the door, which you can put on when you go in and take off as you come out; if you wash your hands with soap and water every time you come from her room before touching anything else; if you boil her soiled clothing or what ever she touches, wash her eating utensils as soon as she is through with them; keep Mike out of Jenny's room and keep him from handling anything she has touched until it has been disinfected—he can go to work."

"Can Maggie and Mickey kape on point to school? They've never had the disease." "You can give them a hot bath, including the hair, put on clean clothes, send them to some other place which is free from the disease and where there are no children who have not had it, and if they do not get it in fourteen days, they can go to school." "And phwat if they do get it?" "The modified quarantine for another minimum period of 30 days counting from the beginning of the latest case. If they get running ears, it may be much longer."

The Health Officer told Mrs. Maguire the reason for quarantine and gave her a scarlet fever pamphlet. mollified by this, she promised to obey, but said "Mulligan's boardin' house has the same thing. They didn't have a doctor, but fear he'd shut them up." Mulligan's boarding house was filled to capacity. Putting on his cap, gown and overshoes, strove with the Health Officer was led to a room in which lay a fourteen-year-old boy, with scarlet fever. When the Health Officer came down stairs, as he thoroughly washed his hands at the kitchen sink, after having sprinkled with antiseptic his gown, head covering and overshoes, which he packed in his satchel, he told Mrs. Mulligan that "it must be the hospital for the boy, or absolute quarantine for the house."

An hour later an ambulance took the boy to the hospital. His room was sealed and disinfected; thereafter, it and all the furniture were well scrubbed with soap and water, the bedding and sheets were boiled, the mattress and blankets wiped with soap and water, and sun-dried, and the room thoroughly aired.

Nine boarders, none of whom had been near the boy, were released for their work on the railroad. Six, over twenty years of age, who worked in the stone quarry, were also released.

A young school teacher and a postal clerk who had looked after the boy, that morning, were ordered a soap and water bath, including the hair, a sponging with disinfectant, disinfection and airing of their clothes, and were allowed to return to work the next day, providing they were kept under medical supervision.

Three children, who had had scarlet fever, were given instructions for a clean-up and disinfection and were allowed to return to school.

The Health Officer finished his morning work by leaving on the steps of the suburban sun, a basket of provisions provided by the Poor Authorities, for Mrs. Maguire and her wife, an aged colored couple, who were quarantined for scarlet fever.

Quarantine (quarante-forty) is the number of days when contagion-carrying ships used to be cut off from shore; it is useless unless it is thoroughly carried out. As a rule, acute diseases are most transmissible in their early stages. Therefore, early quarantine is necessary.

The main spreader of disease is the person who has it.

When the disease is carried from one who has it by one who hasn't it, to a third party, it is usually done by the hands. Thorough soap and water washing will prevent this; washing afterward in chlorinated lime water, a disinfectant to the quart, is an added precaution.

Community safety demands that quarantined persons obey the lapsed regulations to do so many DEATHS to some one else—usually a child.

The same disease may be mild in one person and fatal in the next.

Buffalo Room in Australia.

When Australians refer to their empty north, they do not always recall the five horns of buffalo, which roam in the northern territory. The buffalo has prospered greatly since the first animals were imported, and his hide and horns offer a fairly easy source of revenue. In the hot, wide territory over which he "mud, buffalo" roams, it is not feasible to use him as a new source of food supply, and attempts at yarding have shown that the buffalo is a true Australian, as he resents being driven and expresses this resentment vigorously. It is stated that the mud buffalo has four stomachs and does not chew the cud.

Tintinnabulating Tambourine Doomed
To Play Minor Salvation Army Role

Tambourines at Salvation Army Headquarters, New York City. (Inset) A Salvation Lassie.

THE America of the old-fashioned Americans is gone; it's all ended. Some still cling to primrose hopes, but with the recent announcement that the Salvation Army lassies have given up their tambourines for street collecting—pshaw! what's the use?

It started with the buffaloes. Some New York traveling men, dressed in the latest spring styles, ventured out West. The buffaloes took one squint, lay down on their spinal cords, closed their eyes, groaned and died.

And then there came about the passing of another beloved American institution—the front yard. Home life hasn't been the same since. With the advent of skyscraper tenements and flats, front yards vanished. Now the heads of households, when they come home at night worn out with arguing golf at the office all day, have to sit on the front door steps, or go to the movies.

Suspenders have gone, too. And gone are the 30-cent Sunday table "dinner" and springtime saffron tea, and celluloid collars, and six-for-a-nickel stogies, and family surreys, and all-day suckers. And the family albums have given way to picture scrap-books of blond movie queens! What a life!

And now the time-honored role of the Salvation Army lassie's tintinnabulating tambourine is doomed. You will find these once popular musical collection boxes piled up by the hundreds at Salvation Army Headquarters in New York City.

The lassies, heartened by the country's approval of their overseas war service, hope it will not be necessary hereafter to waste effort in continuous tambourine solicitations. For a year they have devoted all the time that saved by actual stunt work and general service to all distressed humanity. Except for Thanksgiving and Christmas they now appeal to the nation but once a year for financial approval. The 1932 Appeal is scheduled for May 10th to 20th.

The lassies will still beat the tambourines in the Salvation Army praise services, however. They quote a number of Psalms as authority. Here is Psalm 149:3:

"Let them sing praises unto Him with the timbrel and harp."

The "timbrel" is the ancient name for the modern Salvation Army tambourine. Well, good-by, old tambourine! We'll miss your cheering tinkles and the acknowledging smile of your mistress; but you did your bit!

HONOR CLAIMED BY WELSH

Writer Asserts That Country Wore the First White People in America.

In an amazingly interesting old book, published by the author, John Williams, Yale street, Denbigh, Wales, in 1830, entitled "Ancient and Modern Denbigh," there appears the following rare bit of information:

"In A. D. 1839, Madogap, Owen Gwynedd, and his followers, are said to have left the Vale of Glydd (in North Wales), and to have reached America 300 years before Columbus discovered that vast continent. Returning next year, they took many more with them, and are said to have founded a tribe of Welsh-American Indians."

England had been conquered by the Normans in the previous century, and the sons of the great barons William the Conqueror had brought with him from France were taking possession by force of the conquered kingdom, as they could. They were not always successful in their little individual wars, and a good many Saxons early and squires held their own against them. Especially did the Normans have a hard time trying to oust the ancient Britons from their property in Wales. It was not until 1283 that David, last king of the old British empire, was defeated, and King Arthur's round crown was taken by the Norman-English, as was the Welsh relic "ercowydd" made of the true cross and closed in gold and silver, embossed with jewels by St. Helena, the British princess through whom it may be said that the Norman-English became Christian.

The author fails to quote the documentary evidence of the discovery of America by the Welsh.

PICTURESQUE IN THEIR RUIN

Famous Old Abbeys and Priorities Abound in the English County of Yorkshire.

When it comes to selecting the region of abbeys and priorities in England, there is but one county to think of. That county is Yorkshire, which has no less than 25 famous abbeys and priorities within its boundaries, several of them renowned all over the world as being the finest and most beautiful ruins and scenes one can possibly expect to view in this connection.

Twenty-five, at least, of these beauty spots, the ancient founders of religious houses selected in Yorkshire centuries ago. Of course not all those 25, in their ruins and environment, are so amazingly beautiful and picturesque today. Kirkstall, ably, charming as it still appears in certain ways, is too much overshadowed by the smoke of Leeds and the murky, evil-smelling water of the Aire. But when the old monks first came to this abbey, the vale where it rested was almost surely as delightful as Fontaine's wondrous scene is today. However, most of the Yorkshire abbeys even yet retain their pristine delightful surroundings, their fairlike loveliness, and have thus won a world-wide renown, and are visited by tens of thousands of folk from every quarter of the globe year by year.

WORKS HARD TO
AVERT FLU EPIDEMIC

Government and City Health Officials Warn People to Keep Clean.

Stay Away from People with Coughs and Colds.

"Avoid crowds if you want to avoid influenza," says Association for Improving the Conditions of New York.

Keep your hands clean, drink plenty of fresh water; sleep with windows open; eat three uniform meals a day including a good breakfast.

People who have catarrh or frequent colds invite influenza, declares a prominent Kentucky druggist.

The membrane of the throat and nose is raw, sore and tender, and makes a lovely abode for germs to thrive and multiply.

He advises an inexpensive home-made remedy that will bring relief in less than a day and will stop all discharge and soothe and heal the inflamed membrane in a few days. Thousands are saved this beneficial remedy at home and anyone who has catarrh or a cold can do the same.

Pour three-quarters of an ounce of Mentholized Arcline into a pint bottle, then fill the bottle with water that has been boiled.

Gargle the throat as directed and sniff or spray the liquid into the nostrils twice daily. It's a simple way to get rid of cold and catarrh and keeps the nasal passage and throat clean and healthy.

Nearly all druggists dispense Mentholized Arcline in whole containing exactly three-quarters of an ounce, which is all you need to make a pint of this healthful medicine.

The Strange Case of Cavendish

By
RANDALL PARRISH
Author of "The Devil's Own,"
"My Lady of the North," etc.

(Copyright by Randall Parrish)

She was ready almost in a minute, and had blown out the lamp. She almost held her breath as she opened the door silently and crept out into the hall. Twenty feet down this passage ended in a door. This was unlocked and yielded easily to the pressure of her hand. It opened upon a narrow platform and she continued forth. At the bottom she was in a gloom almost impenetrable but her feet felt a slender path and against a slight light she saw her eyes managed to distinguish the faint light of a fire not far distant. The only one who could doubt the cottonwood of the fire in the note.

Shrinking there in the black shadow of the building she realized the terror of her position. The loneliness, the silence seemed to smite her. Still it was not far to the tree, and surely there could be no danger at this hour. If there had been Westcott would never have asked her to come. The very recurrence of his name gave her strength and courage. It was a rough path and interspersed with small rocks and led down into a gully. The tree stood on the opposite bank which was so steep she had to grasp its out-reaching roots in order to pull herself up.

Even after gaining footing she saw nothing of Westcott but a sound indicating his presence. Suddenly something moved to her right and she shrank back against the tree uncertain if the shapeless thing approaching was man or beast. He was almost upon her before she was sure, then her lips gave utterance to a little sob of relief.

"Oh! You frightened me so!"
The man stopped, securely a yard away, a burly figure, but with face indistinguishable.
"Sorry to do that," he said, "but no nouse, please."
She shrank back to the edge of the bank, conscious of the grip of a great cat.

"You are not Mr. Westcott?" he choked. "Who are you? What is it you want?"
"You've been playin' in a game what's none o' your business. Now I reckon it's the other party's turn to throw some cards. Thought yer was comin' out yere ter meet up with Jim Westcott, didn't yer?"
She made no answer desperately seeking some means of escape the full significance of her position clear before her.

"Got a nice little note from Jim," a fellow went on, "an' lost no time gittin' here. Well Westcott is not able to be sendin' fer yer again very on. What'er he—"
She had dashed forward, seeking to free the trunk of the tree between them the unexpected movement so sudden she avoided his grasp. But success was only for an instant. Another hand gripped her, hurling her to the ground.

"You are some sweet little lady's name Moore," he said, "an' let me handle this business my own way. Go on, that's all. Turned around. I'll bring the net. Come on now, miss, and the less you have to say the better."

She grasped at the bark but the fellow wrenched her loose forcing her

"Keep Still, You B— Tiger Cat," He Hissed

forward "Keep still you tiger cat," he hissed, "or I'll get you for good."

What is it you want of me? Who are you?"
"Well discuss that later. Just now move on—straight at me. You see that wagon over there? Well that is where you are bound to present Move on pronto!"

She realized the compulsion of the trap into which she had fallen the futility of resistance. She was as helpless in his power as a mouse in a snare. She then appeared the dim outline of a canvas-covered wagon silhouetted against the sky to which was tethered a team of horses.

A group of men appeared in the gloom one at the head of the team and the other holding back the canvas top. Her guard gripped her arm, and peered about through the darkness. "Isn't Ned here yet?"

"Yes, all right," answered a muffled voice to the left. "I just came out here are the grips and other things." And about the note?"
She wrote that, and pinned it on the pillow.

"Good that will leave things in fine shape," he laughed. "I'd like to see Jim's face when he reads that and the madder he gets the less he will know what to do."

"And you want us to stay?" asked the other doubtfully.
"Of course I am going to stay myself. It is the only way to divert suspicion. Good Lord man if we all disappeared at once they would be easy enough what had happened?"
"But I don't believe Westcott is that kind of a fool. All ready Joe?"
The man at the wagon muttered no response.

"That up you go, miss, here put your foot on the wheel; give her a lift will you?"
Anxious to escape further indignities and comprehending the uselessness of any further struggle with a man on either side of her Miss Donovan silently clambered into the wagon and seated herself on a wide board evidently arranged for that purpose. The fellow who had held back the top followed and snuggled into the seat beside her. She noticed now he held a gun in his hand which he deposited between his knees.

"All set?"
"Sure."
"Well keep awake too and mind what I told yer. Now Moore up with you and drive like h—, you must be in the bad lands before daylight!"
A fellow clambered to the seat in front his figure outlined against the sky and picked up the reins.

"Whoo there now, quiet Jerry. Did you say I was to take the ridge road?"

"You bet, it's all rock and will leave no trail. Take it easy and quiet until you are beyond Hennessey's ranch and then give them the whip."

The next moment they were under way slowly advancing through the darkness.

CHAPTER VIII.

In the Shoshone Desert.
Excited as she was and frightened, the girl was still composed enough to grasp the nature of her surroundings and she had time now, as the wagon rumbled forward to think over all that had been said and fit it into the circumstances.

What did they propose doing with her? The question caused her blood to run cold. That these people were desperate she had every reason to believe. They were battling for big stakes, not even murder had hitherto stood in their way. Why then should they hesitate to take her life, if they actually deemed it necessary to the final success of their plans? She remembered what Beaton had said about her room—the condition in which it had been left. They had removed all her things and left a note behind in womanly handwriting to explain her hurried departure. There was a master criminal mind watchful of every

REGULAR HABITS NOW; CONSTIPATION GONE

Mr. Brooks Suffered for Years—Tells How He Got Relief.

I have tried a great many things for constipation but the only thing that has been able to relieve me is Milk Emulsion. I am on only my second bottle and have to take very little of it now. My bowels move regularly every morning which they have not been doing for a number of years. It seems like living again after suffering so long. I recommended Milk Emulsion to two of my friends and both of them are now free from the evil habit of constipation. (Brooks, 229 Washington St. Peoria, Ill.)

Constipation weakens the lower muscles. Salts and purgatives only increase this condition. Milk Emulsion is a real corrective remedy. You can try it under its guarantee without risking a cent.

detail behind this conspiracy. He was guarding against every possibility of rescue.

The uncertainty the fear engendered by her thought, the dread silence almost caused her to scream. But she conquered this.

The gray dawn came at last, spectral and ghastly, gradually yielding glimpse of the surroundings. They were traveling steadily south the horses beginning to exhibit traces of weariness, yet still keeping up a dogged trot. All about extended a wild desolate scene of rock and sand bounded on every horizon by barren ridges. Nowhere was there slightest sign of life—no bird, no beast, no snake even, crossed their path. All was dead, silent, stricken with desolation.

Stella stared about at it and closed her eyes unable to bear the sight, her head drooped wearily every nerve giving away before the depressing scene outspread in every direction. Sikes watching her slightest movement seemed to sense the meaning of the action.

"Bad, ain't it?" he said expressively. "You know what we are?"
"No, but I never before dreamed any spot could be so terrible."

"This is the Shoshone desert that ain't nobody ever comes in yere except to hunt a while a prospector maybe or a band o' cattle rustlers. Even the Indians keep out."

She lifted her eyes again, shuddering because as they swept about over the dismal waste.

The sun rose a red ball of fire coloring the ridges of sand and painting the grotesque rocks with crimson streamers. In the shadow of a bald cliff the wagon was halted briefly and the two men brought forth materials from within making a hasty fire and preparing breakfast. Water was given the team also before the journey was resumed while during the brief halt the girl was left to do as she pleased. Then they moved on again surrounded by the same drear landscape the very depression of it keeping them silent.

They settled down to the same monotonous mile after mile. The way became rockier with less sand and with no more evidence of life. Far away ahead a strange buttress of rock rose into the sky resembling the turret of a huge castle. The sun was directly overhead when Moore turned his team suddenly to the left and drove down a sharp declivity leading into a ravine.

"Up the canvas Joe," he said shortly. "There's only about a mile more."

The passage was so narrow and so diversified by sharp turns that Miss Donovan shut in behind the closed cover could perceive little of its nature. The cliffs arose precipitously on either side absolutely bare. To the left nothing could be seen but black rock, but on the other side an open space yawned perhaps twenty feet across its bottom impenetrable. The horses stumbled over the rough stones held only by Moore's firm grip on the reins. And the light began to fade as they descended. At last not far appeared above but a narrow strip of sky and the glimmer of sun had totally vanished. Almost at the same moment the driver released the creaking brake and at a trot the wagon swept forward between two pinnacles of rock, and came out into an open valley.

The transition was so sudden and startling as to cause the girl to give utterance to a cry of surprise. They were in a green watered valley, a clear stream wandering here and there through its center shadowed by groves of trees. This valley was nearly square possibly extending not over a mile in either direction merely a great hole rimmed by desert a strange hidden oasis rendered fertile and green by some outburst of fresh water from the rocks. Emerging upon it in midst of the barren desolation through which they had been toiling for hours blinded by alkali dust, it seemed like some beautiful dream a fantasy of imagination.

Miss Donovan doubted the evidence of her own eyes half convinced that she slept. It was Moore's voice which aroused her.

Mendez must have got back Joe," he said eagerly. "There are horses and cattle over yonder."

The other pushed up the canvas and looked out.

"That's right. The fellow is coming now—see?"
He was looking along eagerly Mexican from high hat to jangling spurs sitting the saddle as though molded there a young fellow dark faced but with a wild scar along one cheek.

"Juan Caceres the little devil," muttered Sikes as the rider drew nearer. "There's some pot brewing if he is in it."

The rider drew up his horse and lifted his hat his smiling lips revealing a row of white teeth.

A pleasant day, senior, he said, and his dark eyes searching the faces of the two men and then dwelling with interest on the woman. "Ah your pardon senorita your presence is more than welcome here. He rested one hand on the wagon box, the expression of his face hardening. Yet an explanation might not be out of place—the senior Mendez may not be pleased."

We came under orders from Lacy replied Moore confidently. "You have seen us both before."

True but not the lady you will tell me about her?"
Sikes climbed down over the wheel TO BE CONTINUED

CHINA HAS NEW WRITING SYSTEM

May Transform the Celestial Into United Nation.

REMOVES ONE BIG HANDICAP

Written Language Being Simplified and the Government is Strongly Urging General Use of New System—Great Drawback to the Development of National Spirit is Overcome—Old System Had 6,000 Characters.

Of the barriers to national self-consciousness in China, not the least formidable is the barrier of the Chinese written language. We can readily understand from phenomena daily observed in our midst how great a handicap to the development of a national spirit in China are the poor communication, the decentralization of the functions of its government and the deep-rootedness of its localisms. But in China, in addition to the poor communication between its component provinces and a relatively weak central government, there has existed from time immemorial a wall against the spirit of nationalism, the handicap of a written language that is symbolical instead of alphabetical.

The extent to which the symbolism of its written language has hindered the arousing of a Chinese national spirit is revealed by a Chinese writer in a recent issue of the Far Eastern Republic, says the Boston Transcript. Western civilization early developed a written language of the type known as alphabetical: China, in common with India and other Asiatic nations, developed her language along symbolical lines. Symbolical written language permits the creation of a great literature.

Of the Chinese Masterpieces. In perfection of style, in power of delicate expression, in artistic charm, the symbolical language used in the Chinese masterpieces yields in no respect to the alphabetical language used in the literature of the Western peoples, from the days of the classic models of Greece and Rome. The essence of the Chinese written language is the "radical" or root symbol. For example, zoological objects possess a zoological character as their key symbol; botanical objects a botanical character, etc. By this arrangement shades of meaning infinite in number become possible, together with the creation of a literature extraordinarily plastic. The Chinese system, however, has produced an extraordinarily large vocabulary. For ordinary purposes a knowledge is necessary of some 6,000 characters. To learn these requires at least eight years of study.

The symbolic character of its written language has brought with it a vast quantity of provincial dialects. The language of a man in Peking may be utterly unintelligible to his compatriot in Canton. Even the most widely used dialect is understood in but 15 provinces.

New System for China. The peculiar nature of the written language makes impossible the use of a telephone directory, as no alphabetical arrangement of words is possible. It puts herculean difficulties in the way of the use of the printing press. It makes the sending of telegrams a labor of hours, as each character is numbered from one to 4,000; a telegram must be deciphered like a code. A typewriter is hopelessly out of the question.

Of the handicaps of the written language of China, the leaders of the New China have for some time been keenly aware. And the handicap is in fair way of being overcome. A new system of writing the Chinese language has been developed and its use is being strongly advocated by the Peking government. The new system is Chinese, but the way in which the Chinese characters are used is tremendously simplified. The new system has 30 letters in all—24 initials, three medials and 13 finals. The new system, taught in the government schools, is meeting with notable success. It was taught to the Chinese labor battalions in France with equally happy results.

PHONES AT MILE POSTS

Plan to Install Public Pay Stations on Ohio Highways.

The proposal that public telephone pay stations be installed along Ohio's highways has been made at Columbus.

The suggestion was made by City Commissioner Milton W. Westlake.

Westlake will urge the telephone companies to co-operate in putting into operation the proposal that a telephone be installed at each mile post. Then, in the event of a breakdown, a blowout, or other troubles, the traveler would be no more than half a mile from a telephone.

Hard Pressed. "You seem thoughtful, girl."

"Yes, papa wishes to know my reasons for wanting to marry Algy."

"Well?"

"I'm trying to think up a few."

SAYS MODERN MEN ARE NOT "SISSIES"

Mrs. Charles M. Bright, a practicing attorney of New York takes exception to statement by a Chicago physician, William J. Hickson and F. H. La Guardia, president of the New York board of aldermen, who agree that American men are being made "sissies" by modern women—she says the latter day men are as "manly" as ever, so there.

THE "POOR FISH" IS RIGHT

Winston's Pet Brook Trout Drowns Himself in Greed.

Poor Jim, the pet brook trout! He's dead—drowned.

Everybody hereabout knew Jim. He was a big fellow—all of three pounds, and lived for years in a walled spring at Highland lake, Winston Conn. He'd answer his name when you called him, and even take worms or flies from your fingers. Once, they say, he swallowed, headfirst, another trout weighing nearly a pound.

His greed evidently caused his drowning. He was found with his head and gills wedged between two stones. Apparently he had chased a frog or smaller fish into the crevice between the stones and had been jammed fast.

Poor Jim! He will be missed.

Takes Out $5,000 Insurance on Hen. A white leghorn hen, owned by Dr. Tancrret of Kent, Wash., before she was placed on exhibition by a poultry food company, was insured for $5,000 at the demand of her owner. She holds the egg-laying record of the world.

Kill Him. "Where are you going?" asked the returned hero's mother as he strode toward the door, a vicious look on his face.

"To find the man who sent me this letter suggesting that I take a course in physical culture," was the savage response as the door slammed.—Home Sector.

AIR MAIL SERVICE REGULAR IN ITALY

Postal Department Doesn't Like Innovation, But It Proves Its Worth.

The air mail service begun in Rome during recent railway and postal strikes has proved such a success that the government is making it permanent, charging an extra 6 cents fee for each letter up to 15 grammes. This fee is too small to cover working expenses and probably will be raised. Airships and small airplanes now fly regularly with mails and parcels between Rome and Milan, Rome and Pisa, Naples and Foggia.

The ministry of transportation is having a friction with the ministry of posts, which sees through bureaucratic spectacles and is adverse to modern methods. The latter ministry actually refused to accept mails brought to Rome by one airplane because the list of mail bags had been made out by the pilot, who is not an authorized post official.

All official correspondence, the mail of deputies and of large business firms is going by airplane now, in spite of protests from the ministry of posts.

Use Hokara For This and Other Skin Diseases Which Ruin Complexion.

The power of Hokara to relieve quickly any itching or burning of the skin and to make it soft, white and velvety is almost miraculous.
